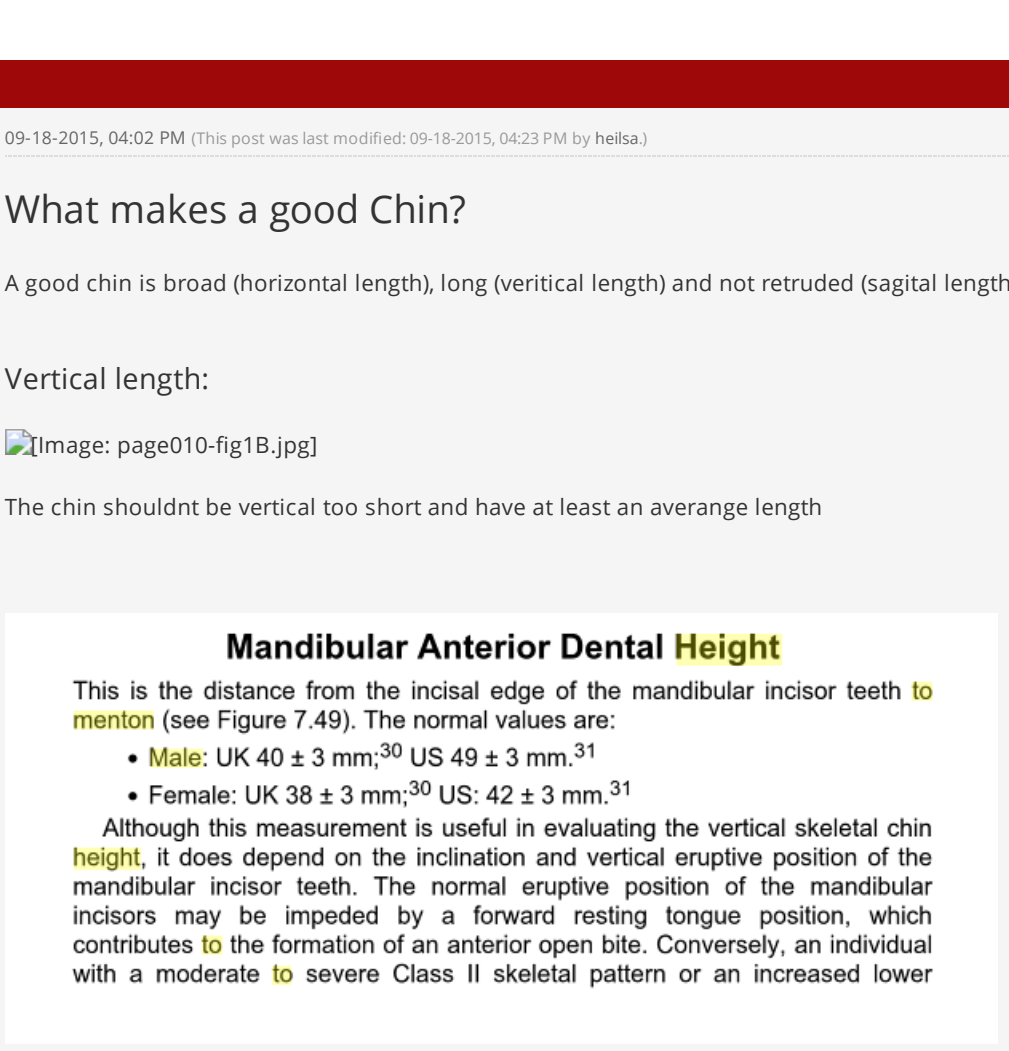
What makes a good Chin?

A good chin is broad (horizontal length), long (veritical length) and not retruded (sagital length).

Vertical length:

[Image: page010-fig1B.jpg]

The chin shouldnt be vertical too short and have at least an averange length



Mandibular Anterior Dental Height

This is the distance from the incisal edge of the mandibular incisor teeth to menton (see Figure 7.49). The normal values are:

- Male: UK 40 ± 3 mm;[30] US 49 ± 3 mm.[31]
- Female: UK 38 ± 3 mm;[30] US: 42 ± 3 mm.[31]

Although this measurement is useful in evaluating the vertical skeletal chin height, it does depend on the inclination and vertical eruptive position of the mandibular incisor teeth. The normal eruptive position of the mandibular incisors may be impeded by a forward resting tongue position, which contributes to the formation of an anterior open bite. Conversely, an individual with a moderate to severe Class II skeletal pattern or an increased lower

The chin also must be at least as twice as long as the philtrum. This is the most important part when it comes to the vertical chin length.

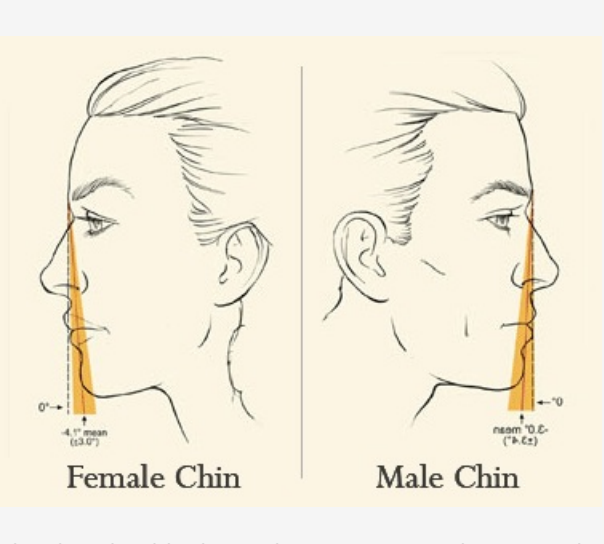
Sagital length:

The attractive facial profile with normal chin projection is demonstrated by a line dropped vertically from the forehead to the edge of the upper lip and lower lip. The edge of the chin should touch or fall just behind this vertical line as shown below.



The chin shouldnt be neither overprojected nor retruded

Surgeries:

There are different kind of surgeries to correct a deficient chin:

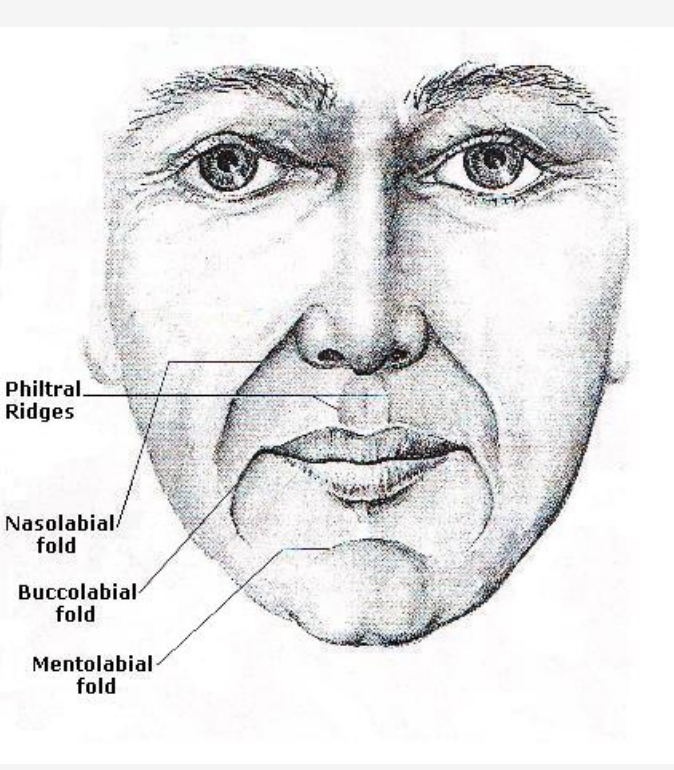
Implants: Used when the chin has a sagital deficiency

[Image: chin-implant-01c.jpg]

Wrap-around implants can also add vertical and horizonal width

[Image: chin-augmentation-implants-before-regula...145267.jpg]
[Image: chin-augmentation-implants-after-regular...145267.jpg]

People who already have a deep or noticeable mentolabial fold (witch chin) shouldnt get an implant. The same if the lower lip is considerable behind the upper lip. http://www.lovethatface.com/cosmetic-fac...-implants/



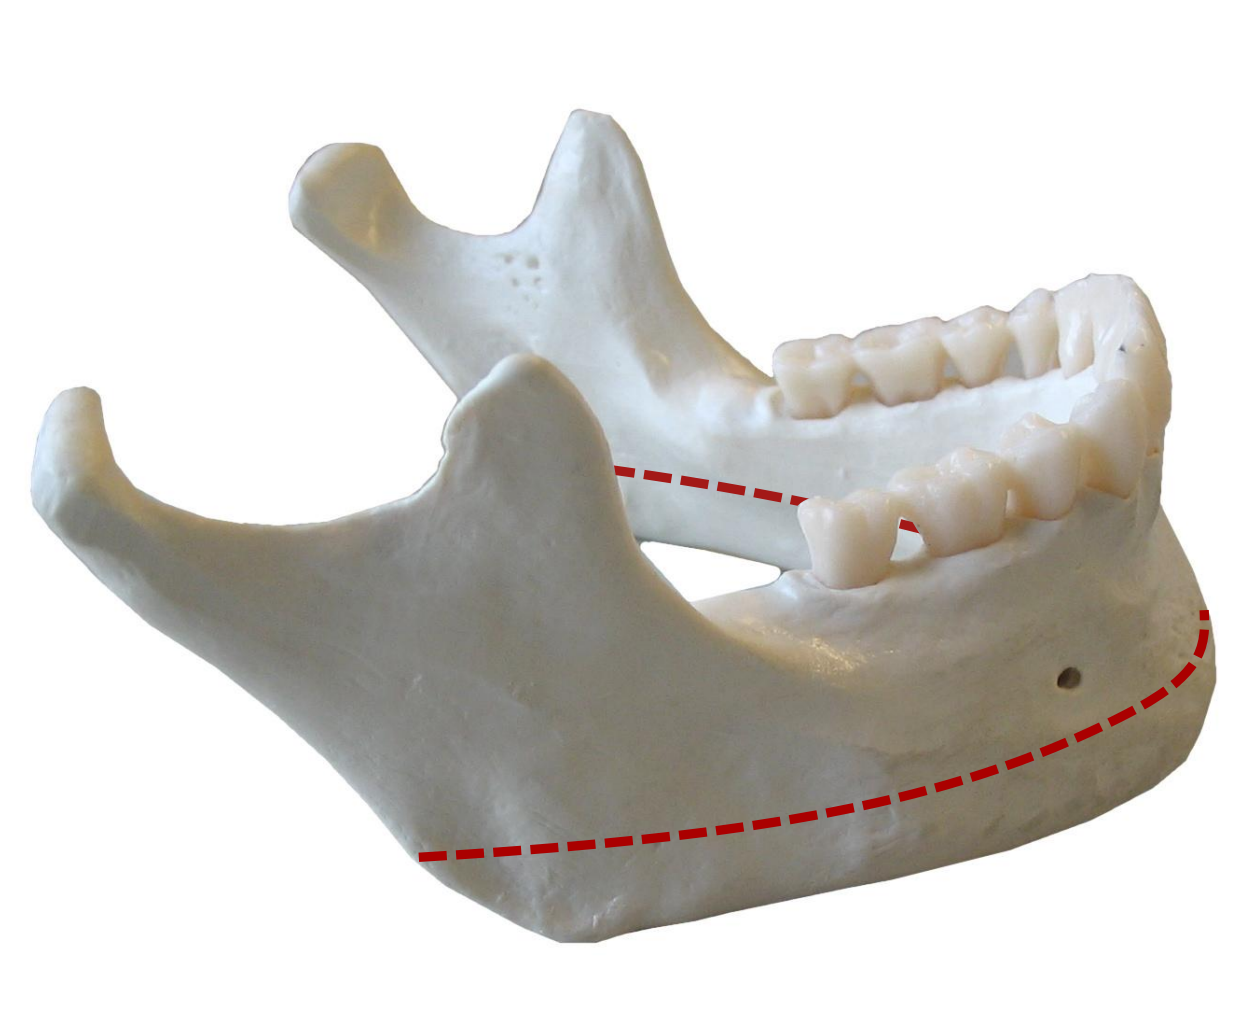
Genioplasty: Can add vertical and sagital length.

[Image: chin-sliding-genioplasty-small.jpg]

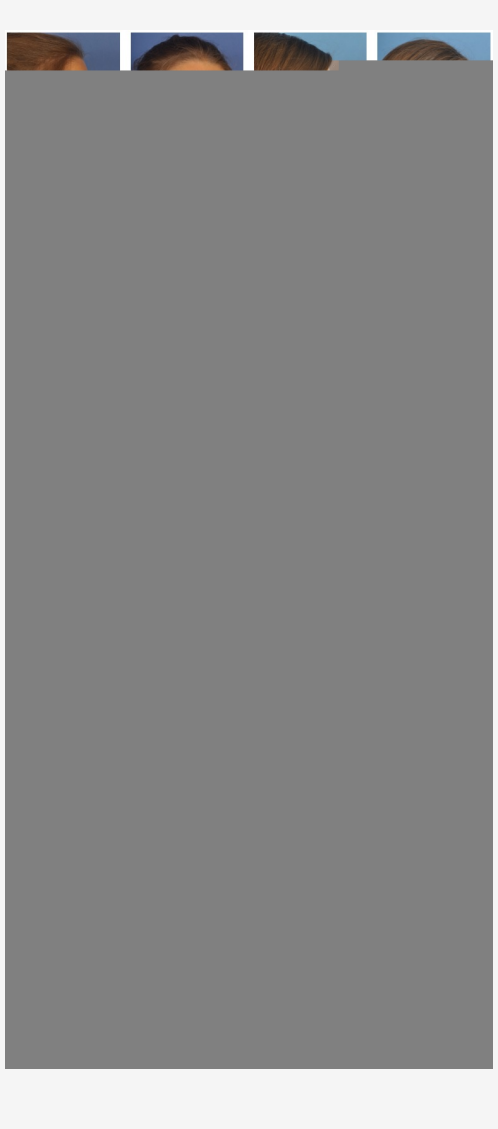
[Image: lgp-700x585.jpg]

http://exploreplasticsurgery.com/tag/ver...ngthening/
http://pocketdentistry.com/37-aesthetic-...d-surgery/

Chin Wing: Can add vertical and sagital length. Also changes the gonial angle



[Image: 411px_Chin_Wing_svg.png]



Jaw Surgery:
A retruded chin is not always a result of chin deficiency but from jaw deficiency. In that case the jaw must be corrected.

How do you know wide chin is a sign of high T not just good genes? Don't women have it?

@~~heilsa~~ Are you looking to have chin surgery?

I am planning to have sliding genioplasty, just trying to find a doctor in Europe now.

Great thread.

You should also add that distraction osteogenesis can be used to increase width of the chin(symphyseal distraction). I will be getting that procedure.

Yeah me too, but I gotta find out if my chin is recessed (I don't think it is) and decide if I should move it slightly forward as well.

It's obvious from side profile, how the fuck can you not know if your chin is recessed.

It seems to be a jaw deficiency but my bite is fine.

Good thread but there are always exceptions and deviations that look good. I'm sure I could find better examples, but for example Brad Pitt has obviously an amazing lower third but his chin is certainly not broad and can even look pointy in some photos particularly when he was younger.

It does look like it almost broadened out though as he aged, either bone and or soft tissue change:

Finally why facial hair is so important for those lacking bones:

Average looking chin:

Top tier chin:

@Bealzibub

aware us. post info itt.

@RoboCopE

legit. they are more important region of the face (eye region etc) who can compensate for a bad chin. there are plenty of good looking guys without a ideal chin. however brad pitts chin isnt ideal

Actually my chin and lower jaw looks quite a bit like Pitts. What would you guys say he needs to approach an ideal jaw and chin?

Good thread but I will just add that this drawing is way too conservative, most good looking guys have chins which project more than that, I believe it should always go past the lower lip, at least in white guys, black guys with huge lips may be different

It may happen, go for a genioplasty

But isn't genioplasty = cutting the bone and holding it with nails
That's even worse lol

So the chjn should be x2 bigger than philtrum? My philtrum is 13 mm so I should have a 26 mm chin? That's sounds too short.....

Much too short. It would look worse than Elliott Rodger's chin

I would say around 3x the philtrum is a pretty good ballpark more or less, but somewhere around 3.5x is probably ideal. Your want your face to look very compact and that plays a major role. Check out that Chad in my avatar and you can see his chin is somewhere in between 3-4x his philtrum its not exactly the philtrum (the philtrum just reach to the upper end of the upper lip) but the distance between nose to oral fissure as you can see in the pic below. however according to science this are the ideal proportions.

something like 1 to 2,5 also looks good imo

The modern technique consists of cutting the bone, moving it forward and/or downward and holding it in place with titanium plates and screws. However the bone will calcify in a few months and the plates can even be removed, it will be as strong as a natural chin.

Implants kinda suck, I have one, it gave me 1 point at least but I can feel it inside of me, I will remove it and get proper jaw surgery

@baldman91's chin is ideal IMO
a slightly longer philtrum without being too long with a massive chin is great Haha thanks.

Didn't realize a chin meant that much...
